

Timothy A. Clark

Of Counsel

Mr. Clark assists with all corporate matters at KLS including contracts, inter/intra-company contracts including employer/employee agreements and matters, corporate formation for both for-profit and not-for-profit companies, supplier agreements, outsourcing agreements including BOT (Build, Operate, Transfer) and other models, loan and credit agreements, and financing documents including private equity and venture capital.

Mr. Clark has nearly two decades of corporate law experience and has held senior-level positions in several businesses, law firms and institutions. As an associate at the Boston law firm of Hutchins and Wheeler, he provided legal assistance and guidance to an array of business and financial entities from small “mom and pops” to high tech start-ups to established publicly traded companies. After five years at Hutchins, Mr. Clark went in-house for over a decade, serving as General Counsel for both Colonial Gas Company, a publicly traded natural gas company and JuniorNet Corporation, a start-up that provided internet service specially designed for children. Mr. Clark also co-founded and managed his own small, general practice firm, Kobe & Clark, LLP, before taking a position as a Department Chair and teacher of American History, Government, Economics and Law at the Fay School.

Mr. Clark has experience in the formation and operation of partnerships and corporations (both business and nonprofit), contracts, financings, technology licensing, mergers and acquisitions (both stock and asset), joint ventures, other transactions and SEC and regulatory compliance matters. He is a member of the Massachusetts Bar and has appeared before numerous state and federal courts and regulatory agencies. Mr. Clark graduated cum laude from both Williams College and Boston College Law School.
